

The Simone de Beauvoir Institute invites you to the
ANNUAL LECTURE ON SIMONE DE BEAUVOIR

ANNA ANTONOPOULOS

Tuesday
November 30
12:00 noon

Simone de Beauvoir and the Future of Feminism

R.S.V.P. before
November 26
848-2373 or 848-2372

Anna Antonopoulos teaches courses in philosophy and is also currently teaching in the Département d'études littéraires at the Université du Québec à Montréal. Her articles on philosophy and feminist theory have appeared in various journals including Tessera, Hypatia, Woman and Language, as well as in the anthologies Feminism and the Body (forthcoming, Indiana University Press) and Community: Catachresis: Community (forthcoming, Black Rose). She is currently working on two books: an autobiographical novel supported by a grant from the Canada Council Explorations Program; and a book on the topic Space, Gender, Discourse: (De-)Constructing the 'Home', based on her Ph.D. dissertation.

The Lounge
Simone de Beauvoir Institute
2170 Bishop